Twenty-eighth Year. GRIMSBY, WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1913 $1.00 Per Year

THE BY-LAW WAS CARRIED BY A MAJORITY OF 20

The Citizens of Grimsby last Monday did Splendidly and Turned Out and Carried the By-Law to Loan the Steel Specialty Co. the sum of $10,000.

20 VOTES AGAINST

By-Law Was Carried By a Majority of Twenty-Four Over and Above the Number Required by the Statute Law.

The By-Law to loan ten thousand dollars to the Canadian Steel Speciality Company, carried by the ratepayers of Grimsby, on Monday, May 26, by a majority of 201.

There were only twenty votes against the By-Law, while there were 221 for it and there should have been 222, but one young voter instead of making his cross, wrote his name in favor of it, which cancelled his ballot.

There was practically no open opposition. The few who voted against it, casting their ballots but doing no work.

The ratepayers as a general thing appeared apathetic and many of them did not vote, but in spite of this fact the By-Law was carried by a handsome majority of the votes cast, and with the majority of twenty-four over and above the amount demanded by the statute law

The votes cast in each Ward are as follows:

	For	Against
North Ward	51	2
Centre "	91	11
South "	79	7

Majority for the By-Law 201.

Number of votes required by Statute to carry 198, majority over requirement 24.

GRIMSBY IN POSSESSION OF MILITIA

On Tuesday afternoon, Captain Bell, Captain Kingsford and Lieutenant Timmons of the Royal Canadian Dragoons (permanent force), Toronto, arrived in Grimsby, in charge of a detachment of twenty-two Dragoons and twelve led horses, to meet the Commanding Officer, General Lessard, and a number of senior militia officers, who are engaged in carrying on a war on paper, or following out a war chart throughout the Niagara District, from Grimsby to the Niagara River.

The officers and most of the Dragoons will remain over Wednesday night and proceed to Niagara camp on Thursday.

The dragoons had some difficulty in securing accommodation for their horses, unfortunately, but they all got properly stabled before feeding time, on Tuesday evening.

Lieutenant J. A. McD. Livingston and Sergeant G. A. R. Ross of the 2nd Dragoons assisted the Militia in getting accommodation for the horses and men.

There is no truth in the statement that the acids in silage will cause decay of the teeth of the animal that eats it. It is merely someone's supposition that has been given circulation.

THE SPEED KINGS HAD SUCCESSFUL MEET

The Day Was Fine, and the Attendance Was Large---Grand Stand Packed to Capacity.

SEVERAL SPILLS

The Track was in Great Shape For the Races, and Fast Time Was Made.

The Hamilton Motor Cycle Club had possession of the Grimsby race track on Victoria Day and ran over seven motor cycle races under the sanction of the Canadian Motor Cycle Association.

Although there were several spills during the afternoon, none of the riders were seriously injured and fortunately none of the spectators were injured at all.

The track was in the pink of condition, being firm and fairly free from dust, and fast time was made.

There was a good attendance, the afternoon being dry and warm and the grand stand was packed to capacity, while either side of the track was lined with automobiles and vehicles full of stylishly dressed ladies and gentlemen from the City of Hamilton and from the Villages and the surrounding country.

Although motor cyclists from London, Guelph, Berlin and Toronto were present, Hamilton riders carried off most of the prizes. A London man, T. J. Maher, winning one race.

Wm. Ronald of Hamilton won three firsts and one second and in another event when he fell and sustained a few injuries to his face and two teeth were knocked out.

In the Herald Cup races for four power machines, for a race of ten miles, there were five starters. Orlon Murray was away to a good start, but in the second lap his machine left the track and he was hurled into the ditch. Another rider, W. Leck of Hamilton was in third position when he attempted to make a spurt in the sixteenth lap, his machine skidded and hurled him against the fence, knocking off 8 pickets. Leck mounted his machine and finished the race, being cheered by the crowd for his gameness.

The interest was at fever heat all afternoon and the more dangerous the performance, the more the crowd seemed to like it.

Fortunately, the lay-out of the track is so good and the protection for the crowd by the fences is so ample that serious accidents are reduced to a minimum.

The Motor Cycle Club was well pleased with the day's outing and with the result of the races and think that the track is the best half-mile track for motor cycle racing within easy distance of Hamilton.

If the corners were laid up a little more, it would be a model half-mile track for this kind of sport.

The result of the races are as follows:

First event, 5 miles—Wm. Ronald, Hamilton; Orland Murray, Hamil-

HONOUR TO WHOM HONOUR IS DUE

Mr. E. D. Smith, of Winona, Appointed Senator---Appointment a Popular One

Not only Conservatives in the Niagara District, but Liberals as well, will be delighted to learn of the appointment of Mr. E. D. Smith of Winona, to the Senate.

For some time Mr. Smith has been frequently mentioned in this connection, and so many whose claims are being pressed bfore the Government, that many of his friends felt that he might be passed over, so that their delight was all the greater when the announcement was made on Monday evening, that the appointment had been given out by Mr. Borden.

No man in Ontario, nor in fact, in the Dominion, is more deserving of an appointment to the Upper House, than the Hon. E. D. Smith.

Since his earliest manhood, up to the present time, his life has been a most useful one, not only to the district in which he was born and raised, but to the entire Province of Ontario and the Dominion of Canada.

In a commercial way he can be described as nothing less than a business genius. Considering that he had practically no early business training, his skill and success as an organizer and as a captain of industry, has been phenomenal, and not only has his success been of the very highest in one department, but he has been successful in many departments.

He has been just as successful as a nurseryman as he was as a fruit grower, and he has met with equal success in his undertaking of fruit growing, and also in his dealings as in apple buying and shipping.

Mr. E. D. Smith had never taken part in politics, it were meet that he should be appointed to a seat in the Senate as a reward for the benefit which he has been to the fruit growing industry of the Niagara District and the Province of Ontario.

But Mr. E. D. Smith was a tower of strength to the Conservative party and for years he has labored without stint for the party of his choice.

From his boyhood he was always ready on the platform, in the canvass or in any other service to assist the Conservative party and as he grew, the party began to clamor for him as a candidate. He persistently refused nomination over nomination for both the Provincial and the Dominion Houses, on the ground that his business was of more importance to the community than his politics.

Finally, he was induced to run for South Wentworth and was elected

GRIMSBY BEACH SCORES ANOTHER BIG SUCCESS

MANY AMUSEMENTS

The Attraction of the Day was the New Roller Boller Coaster and a Great Many People Patronized the Thriller.

Grimsby Beach scored another big success on Victoria Day, when an immense crowd of people gathered together on the lovely grounds to enjoy themselves, with the amusements, in picnicing and boating on the lake.

All day the people poured in from the surrounding country and from Hamilton, Grimsby, Beamsville, Smithville and St. Catharines, and by 5 o'clock in the afternoon, an immense concourse of people were on the grounds.

Grimsby Beach is more attractive than ever this year. The line of amusements has been greatly increased. Many new features have been introduced and the best of the old ones retained and the grounds in general are in good shape for the opening of the summer season.

Of course, the big attraction was the enormous newly erected roller boller coaster, and many were there who paid their money to enjoy the "thrills" that a trip around this big

Of course, there are many amusements that will be in full swing at Grimsby Beach this summer that were not ready for so early a date as May 24, but early as the date was, there were a great many amusements in full swing the merry-go-round, the ever present joy of the children, was doing a swell business. The moving-picture show was running to its full capacity. The restaurants and ice cream parlors had good patronage and all the other amusements and entertainments on the mid-way we attracting their share of attention.

In the auditorium at 2.30 and 8.15 large audiences were entertained by vaudeville artists, who put on an entertaining program.

The attendance on May 24, shows that Grimsby Beach still holds its popularity and with the added attractions and improvements and the promised first class boat service, the season of 1913 should be the most successful in the history of this summer resort.

Manager Wylie has succeeded in forming a strong financial combine to run the park and it is expected that in the future this resort will gain in popularity every year.

The only fly in the ointment on May 24, was the lack of dancing in the afternoon. The piano had been shipped on the 21st, but of course four days was too short a time for the railway to get a piano from Toronto to Grimsby, consequently, Prof. Davis was under the necessity of

DELBERT KEITH KILLED BY PREMATURE EXPLOSION

Had Prepared Four Charges of Explosives Under Stump, and While Preparing the Fifth, the Explosion Accidentally Took Place.

FATHER AND BROTHER ALSO INJURED

Mr. Edward Keith and Son Kenneth, Who Were Assisting, Were Badly Injured, and Were Taken to the Hamilton City Hospital.

An explosion took place with fatal and disastrous results at the home of Mr. Edward Keith, just outside of Beamsville, on Saturday, May 4, about 8 o'clock p. m., with the result that Delbert Keith was instantly killed, his brother Kenneth was very seriously, if not fatally injured, and his father, Edward Keith, was also seriously injured.

Mr. Keith and his sons had decided that they would blow out the very large stump of a tree which had been recently cut down, and prepared to have the explosion take place on the evening of Victoria Day.

Kenneth, who had been studying chemicals at the Beamsville High School, prepared the explosives, consisting of glycerine, nitric, sulphuric acid, etc.

Four charges had been put under the stump at various points around it and the fifth was being placed in position when for some unaccountable reason the explosion took place.

Mr. Keith and his sons were so close that it is a wonder they were not all killed, but Delbert was instantly killed and the other two very badly mangled.

Delbert seemed to have got the full force of the explosion, as several bones were broken and he received terrible internal injuries. Death must have been almost instantaneous. He was fourteen years of age.

A CHANGE IN MATINEE DAY

The next matinee at the Grimsby race track will be held on Wednesday, June 11, 1913.

This change has been made to allow the business men of Grimsby and Beamsville an opportunity to attend the races, which they cannot do on Saturday afternoon. It will also give the Hamilton grocers, butchers and other business men who hold a half holiday on Wednesday afternoon, an opportunity of visiting the race track and see the horses they are interested in, race.

Trainer Rattanbury and Trainer Green will have horses in the races and N. R. Sutherland will have two or three runners ready to go.

A base-ball match between Grimsby and an outside club will be arranged.

Admission twenty-five cents; ladies and children ten cents; grandstand free—horsemen please take notice that all races will be mile heats, except the running race.

* * * * * *

A man in Hamilton drank forty-seven glasses of beer in one day and was so drunk that the police collared him and locked him up.

* * * * * *

I always knew that those Hamilton fellows were light in the heel, and not strongly enough built to carry a good cargo.

* * * * * *

Anybody who would fall down with a cargo of only forty-seven glasses of beer should be locked up, as he is scarcely able to contend with the temptations and troubles ofthis life.

* * * * * *

A man who allows forty-seven glasses of beer to down him, is too frail for even a quiet place like Hamilton and he should put in a few months in some local option town, in order to develop his capacity.

* * * * * *

The worst feature in the whole case is the fact that the magistrate fined him five dollars—to fine a man for being drunk when he had only consumed forty-seven glasses of beer, is ridiculous in the extreme, and shows that the magistrate has not got a keen sense of humor or a proper grasp of the temperance situation.

* * * * * *

If Magistrate Jelfs keeps on in the course he is now following, the next thing we know, he will be fining men for smelling the cork—it is ridiculous that a man cannot be allowed to indulge in the trifling number of forty-seven glasses without being hailed before His Worship and fined—the liberty of the individual is certainly being interfered with in the great City of Hamilton.

A row is now going on amongst some of the priests and bishops in Europe over the question of whether the Roman Catholic clergy should be allowed to ride in automobiles.

* * * * * *

One bishop thinks that it is undignified for Roman Catholic clergymen to ride in automobiles, and the matter has been referred to the Pope for settlement.

* * * * * *

Those in favor of using automobiles look for a favorable decision from His Holiness, as he himself owns an automobile, but is not strong enough to enjoy a ride in it very often.

JAMES WENTWORTH IN REAR-END COLLISION

Had Just Boarded One of the 5.10 Cars Out of Hamilton When the One Behind Crashed Into the One in Front and Mr. Wentworth Was Pinned in the Debris.---Others Had Narrowly Escaped.

Mr. James Wentworth of Grimsby, was badly injured in a rear-end collision on the H. G. & B. electric railway near Winona, on Monday evening, May 26 and is lying now at his home on Clark St. under the doctor's care.

The rear-end collision occurred between two of the 5.10 cars out of Hamilton. They left Winona about on time at 6 o'clock and the leading one stopped in the Fifty hollow at the shalley to take on passengers. Mr. James Wentworth, who was waiting at the shalley, walked up the steps as soon as the car stopped and was just in the vestibule when the second car plunged into the standing one and Mr. Wentworth was pinned in the debris.

The vestibules of both cars were badly damaged and nearly an hour passed before the cars were moved and the injured man was started on his way to Grimsby.

Over half an hour was consumed by the conductors, in Mr. W. Dawe's house at the telephone, trying to get the proper official in Hamilton to give them instructions what to do.

The car with the injured man arrived in Grimsby about 7.30, nearly an hour and a half after the accident and he was taken to the office of Dr. Smith, who applied first aid.

In due time he was removed to his home and the statement was given out that he was suffering from broken ribs and other injuries.

Ralph Ellison had a narrow escape from injury. As he was on the top step, about to enter the car, his companion, Wm. Shipman yelled to him to jump, as there was going to be a collision. Ellison stopped just in time and the shock of the collision threw him into the ditch. Had he gone another step, he would have been in the door jam and been badly crushed.

Shipman remained in the shalley, terrified that the car would topple over on him, but the cars kept the track and the front one was driven away from the hind one by the force of the shock.

A young lady who was on the platform and who had just stepped off the car, was greatly terrified and screamed loudly and her screams warned Ellison as much as his companion's call.

MEETING OF GRIMSBY ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

General Meeting of Members Held Last Night---Splendid Progress Reported in the Football Section and Matches Will Soon Be Announced---The Baseball Team is Progressing Nicely and Will Be a Winner.

A general meeting of the Grimsby Athletic Association was held in the club room above the H. G. & B. station on Tuesday night. There was a good representation of members in attendance and several matters of interest were taken up. President W. J. Ellis was in the chair and reported the splendid progress of the club. A large list of enrolled members was shown and it is now evident that this new and popular organization will be highly successful.

Mr. Logie and Mr. Blaney, manager and captain respectively of the football team, reported splendid progress in that department. In the course of a few days they will have the uniforms for the line up that will stand in readiness to meet any outside teams, and they expect to arrange a number of matches in the near future. It was also decided to join the Hamilton and Winona League.

Mr. Gilmartin, the efficient manager of the baseball department, has taken hold of the work in earnest and very soon the club will be represented by a baseball team. All the necessary equipment is being secured and just as soon as a team is organized matches with teams from outside points will be arranged.

The undeveloped material is in Grimsby and there is no reason why the Grimsby Athletic Club should not be represented by first class base ball and football teams, as well as a number of good athletes. We find that all great athletes are attached to some athletic organization. In the Central Y. M. C. A. of Toronto, we find George Goulding, the champion walker of the world and Harry Tressider, the champion five miler

WHEN PACKING EGGS

Many ways and means are used to preserve eggs, but very few are satisfactory and reliable. One most reliable and satisfactory way is to use "Parke's Glassine." It is the least troublesome and inexpensive. Put up in 15c and 25c cans, which are sufficient for 8 dozen and 16 dozen eggs. Parke & Parke, 22 and 24 Macnab St., north, Hamilton, Ont.

Facts and Fancies

The suffragettes are raising Hail Columbia in one little town in Scotland, by threatening to destroy the golf links, by throwing vitrol on the grass.

* * * * * *

The name of the town is St. Andrews, and it has the finest golf links in the world and is the place where the championship games of the world are played.

* * * * * *

The citizens of the town are worked into the highest state of excitement, as the majority of the people in the town make their living from the crowds who visit the place, either to play golf or to witness the games.

* * * * * *

A Vigilance Committee has a volunteer corps of five thousand men guarding the grounds day and night, and carrying large umbrellas to prevent the suffragettes from burning their faces, or blinding them with vitrol.

* * * * * *

A searchlight has been erected on the railroad bridge and the grounds of the surrounding country are swept with strong lights every night—the people of Canada should thank God that they live in a civilized country.

* * * * * *

Repentance was at one time one of the larger virtues, but that was when it was comparatively easy to maintain it without expense. At present repentance is going out, because of the expense. To repent over something you have done involves such a loss of time and energy that only the few who are too poor to care about anything else can well afford it.

* * * * * *

For some time there has been a popular impression that repentance was for sinners. On the contrary, it is only practical for saints.

* * * * * *

The only form which repentance now can take is philanthropy. When a man has made so much that he doesn't know what to do with it, by becoming a philantropist he can use his repentance to the best advantage—namely, for advertising purposes.

* * * * * *

A citizen of Beamsville, writing to the Beamsville Express, last week, in describing a drunken row on the street, insinuates that the County constable was as deep in the mud as the rest of the gang were in the mire.

* * * * * *

I cannot believe this, as I am assured that the honorable A. B. Tufford, chief of police of Beamsville, has not indulged in intoxicating liquors since the time the tramp stole his overalls, or the time he lost his false teeth at Jordan, or the time that he lost his eye-glasses at Lockport.

* * * * * *

The fact of the matter is that Constable Tufford is remarkably temperate considering the fact that he lives in a local option town.

* * * * * *

There is no greater temptation than raiding blind pigs and hunting up speak-easies.

* * * * * *

I noticed a despatch from St. Catharines in the Toronto Globe on Monday, to the effect that the leading Tories of the County of Lincoln have been busy [illegible]

* * * * * *

It is wonderful how many of these mysterious orders are sent to the County of Lincoln, or rather to the City of St. Cathearines.

* * * * * *

It is only a short time since the Liberals of St. Catharines got a hurry-up order to get ready for an election and a rush convention was held, and a candidate put in the field but up to date nothing more has happened along that line.

* * * * * *

Now another despatch goes out stating that the Conservatives have received a hurry-up order to get ready for an election, but I guess there will be no rush convention, nor in fact, a rush of any kind on the part of the Conservatives, as the party on the outside is always more anxious for an election than the party on the inside.

* * * * * *

A man standing on the outside of a bolted door on a cold day, can conjure up a thousand reasons why that door should swing open, to every one reason that flits across the brain of the man who is sitting snug and warm beside a good fire on the inside of the door.

* * * * * *

The political party in power thinks that every five years is often enough for an election. The political party out of power thinks that there should be an election every year.

* * * * * *

In the despatch from St. St. Catharines to the Globe, it says that the Liberals in the County of Lincoln have the only candidate.

* * * * * *

Well, I guess the despatch is right; the Liberals have the only "Candidate" and the Conservatives have the only "member."

* * * * * *

* * * * * *

Mr. Lancaster, member of Parliament for County of Lincoln, has no need to bother his head about being a candidate, but allows the other fellow to do that—but just the same when the time comes for Mr. Lancaster to be a candidate, he will be there with the harness on, or else he will be enjoying something better.

* * * * * *

As I pass along our streets in the centre of the town or drive over the streets in the more out-lying parts of the town, I often wonder if the mother really loves her children as much as she pretends to.

* * * * * *

When I see little boys and girls, six or seven years of age, run across the street in front of an automobile or in front of a moving trolley car, I often wonder if the mother who allows her children to roam the streets, really loves them as much as she would make it appear, when anything happens any one of the youngsters.

* * * * * *

When I see children riding on the back of drays and hanging on the end of the reach under a basket wagon and then drop off in front of a fast moving automobile, on in front of a team of horses following, and then look in every direction for the mother or the elder brother or sister, and see them not, I really often wonder in my own mind if the mother cares a darn whether the kids get killed or not.

* * * * * *

When I see tiny boys playing around in front of the bar-room and whooping and yelling down dark alley-ways, even up to 10 o'clock at night, I often wonder in my own mind if the parents love their children as much as they pretend to, or in fact, if they love them at all.

* * * * * *

It seems to me that any mother who does not know and does not care where her boys and girls are up to 9 and 10 o'clock at night, doesn't care a thundering lot what becomes of them.

* * * * * *

I have often noticed that the young boy or the young girl of today has a lot less brains than the puppy or the young kitten or the young chicken, because, I notice every day of my life little boys and girls doing fool things that I never noticed a chicken, or a puppy, or a kitten, or a calf or a colt do in my life.

* * * * * *

The day that Mr. Nigh's little boy was struck by the trolley car on Livingston Ave the car was backing up to Dr. Smith's office, carrying the boy for first aid.

* * * * * *

Mr. Mitchell had the boy in his arms, the conductor was attending to the trolley pole and I stood out on the outside steps, as the car backed down Livingston Ave., past the Public school grounds. There was a bunch of girls on each side of the street, at Murray street, and none of them were very small, and just as the car was approaching at quite a clip, a girl detached herself from one bunch and ran across the street in front of the fast moving car to join the bunch of girls on the opposite side of the street.

* * * * * *

Of course, the conductor's nerves and my nerves were at high tension, but so dangerous did we consider her movement, that both of us screamed at the top of our voices to warn her of her danger.

* * * * * *

The other day I was driving up Main St. A heavily loaded dray was in front of me, and hanging to the rear end of it, was a small boy.

So far, so good; the boy was in no danger from the team that was drawing the dray, nor was he in any danger from my horse, had he remained in the position which he had chosen, but he didn't. That would have shown too much common sense.

* * * * * *

When I came reasonably close to the dray, I naturally turned out to pass it, and of course, I was going much faster than the dray, and just as I swung out, the boy dropped off the rear of the dray and sprang in front of my horse to reach the side-walk—another six inches and he would have been under the horse's feet, perhaps with a broken leg or a couple of broken ribs.

* * * * * *

Had the boy dropped off the dray and remained close behind it, he would have been in no danger from my horse or anybody's else's, but he had to do the fool thing and make the rush in front of the on-coming horse.

* * * * * *

It is quite a common practice with little boys, yes, and with little girls too, when they are playing on the street, to make a foolhardy rush across the street to see how closethey can run in front of an automobile or trolley car, or a horse and rig—in a long experience I have never seen a puppy, a kitten nor a calf attempt such a fool performance.

One Disadvantage of Gardening

"I suppose you will do a little gardening this year," said a friend.

"No," answered Cyrus Baker. "I tried it once. It made me so sympathetic with the people who raise things to eat that after that I stood for any overcharge the huckster might make."

Why Women Have Nerves

The "blues"—anxiety—sleeplessness—and warnings of pain and distress are sent by the nerves like flying messengers throughout body and limbs. Such feelings may or may not be accompanied by backache or headache or bearing down. The local disorders and inflammation, if there is any, should be treated with Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets. NERVOUS, LIFELESS
DEBILITATED MEN

YOUNG MEN AND MIDDLE-AGED MEN, the victims of early indiscretions and later excesses, who are failures in life—you are the ones we can restore to manhood and revive the spark of energy and vitality. Don't give up in despair because you have treated with other doctors, used electric belts and tried various drug store nostrums.

Our New Method Treatment has snatched hundreds from the brink of despair, has restored happiness to hundreds of homes and has made successful men of those who were "down and out." We prescribe specific remedies for each individual case according to the symptoms and complications—we have no patent medicines. This is one of the secrets of our wonderful success as our treatment cannot fail, for we prescribe remedies adapted to each individual case. Only curable cases accepted. We have done business throughout Canada for over 20 Years.

CURABLE CASES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you intending to marry? Has your blood been diseased? Have you any weakness? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. What it has done for others it will do for you. Consultation Free. No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. Books Free—"Boyhood, Manhood, Fatherhood." (illustrated) on Diseases of Men.

L. Woolverton, District Com.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES STEVENS SR. WILL VISIT SCOTLAND

Mr. and Mrs. James Stevens, of the Lake Shore, Beamsville, left this morning for a three months' visit at their old home in Scotland.

Mr. Stevens, who twenty-five years ago left the town of Thurso, Caithness County, Scotland, to come to Canada to try his fortune, landed at Winona with four small children and practically not a dollar of capital. Today, he and his good wife are returning to their old home in Scotland after having raised a family of ten children up to manhood and womanhood, and so well supplied with this world's goods that they can return to their old home and spend a summer vacation of three months in the busiest time of the year in this fruit growing country, without effecting them financially.

When James Stevens and his wife arrived in Canada, he at once set to work for as a hired man for the fruit growers around Winona and being steady, industrious and a good farmer, he soon saved sufficient to invest in a piece of land.

As his family grew up they assisted him in the fruit business and he purchased more land and planted more fruit, with the result that in a few years he was practically a rich man.

Besides following fruit farming he made money as a salesman for nursery stock and as the saying goes, "Everything he touched turned into money."

Five of his family are now married and doing for themselves while the other five are still at the old home near the lake shore, North of Bamsville.

It cannot be said that James Stevens made his money by niggerly savings, because he has always been, since he could afford it, a free spender and most liberal with his children and friends, but he had the instinct of business and the nerve to seize opportunities at the right time, and consequently everything was favorable, and money and property came his way.

We hope that Mr. and Mrs. Stevens will thoroughly enjoy their so well earned summer vacation and we feel that no matter how glad they will be to get back to their old Scottish home, they will be just as keen this Fall, to return to their Canadian home.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION MEETING

A meeting of the poultry association was held in Wardell's Hall, last Monday evening to discuss show matters.

The business of the evening was the appointment of a soliciting committee to solicit subscriptions for the show.

It was also decided to postpone the regular monthly meeting, of which the members have had notice, from Friday, June 6, to Saturday evening, June 7. It is particularly requested that all members be on hand at 8 o'clock sharp, as important matters will come before the meeting. The date for the holding of the show will be selected, the judge appointed, the committee on the prize list will present their report and many other features in connection with the show will come up for discussion, and each member should not fail to attend and express his opinion.

The boys are enthusiastic in the matter of a show and with hearty co-operation, will coop one of the best poultry shows in the district.

Any poultry fancier in this district who is not already a member of this association, should join now and help to make this one of the best and largest associations for the furthering of poultry interests, in the Province.

ALSO WEED EARLY

Weeding is done easily and more quickly before the weeds are making much of a show and before they have had a chance to do much damage. Let the weeds once get large, and it will be a tedious and disagreeable job to clean them out of the rows. The few scattering radish-plants which you should try to secure by mixing a very few radish-seeds with the beet, carrot and onion seed, show the exact location of the rows of these vegetables a week after sowing. If the soil is dry on top and perhaps a little baked, I go over the rows promptly with my hand wheel-hoe, running it pretty close to the row of plants, thus breaking the crust and incidentally destroying the weeds that may also have already started. This process is repeated about a week after, and all weeds remaining in the rows are pulled up by hand or cut out with a hand weeder.

The other day a Missouri poultry man packed up his lunch and set out on the task of driving some 1,600 turkeys to market. The birds travelled at the rate of two miles an hour, and when he arrived in town, some miles distant, he received $3,800 for his season's labor. It would be interesting to know what these turks cost him to bring to the marketing stage.

"This is Tobey in the hat he will wear when he is Mayor of Hamilton in 1915, and his business reaches a quarter of a million."

NEVER HAPPENED BEFORE

Two Scotchmen were out one very cold day. One had no ear-muffs and was rubbing his ears vigorously.

"Sandy mon," said the other, "I wonder you would na wear yer ear-muffs."

"Nay, mon, I have na worn them since the accident."

"The accident?"

"Yes, the squire asked me to have a drink and I did'na hear him."

If you are wearing ear-muffs and haven't heard about the suits that I have been buying from Coppley Noyes & Randall, made for men from coast to coast, in their special order department, where they average over one hundred a day. Their plant was shut down for ten days, every suit that had been cut had to be finished, hundreds were finished that the customers wouldn't accept on account of the ten days delay. As these suits have been coming through Coppley Noyes & Randall's shops I have been buying them. The name of each customer is on the sleeve. The first lot I sold at $16.50. This week I got a bunch of cancelled ones for Vancouver, Calgary, Victoria and Edmonton, as out there they only buy the best that money can produce; but they won't wait twice as long as they have been promised delivery, so this Saturday the $30 and $35 suits from these western orders, I bought so I can sell them at $20 and the $25 special orders so I can sell them at $16.50, and on top of that I bought 160 odd suits including some $15 and $20 blues slightly shaded, to put on sale at $9.95. Now I am not going to say anything more. It's up to you to come But I want all my boy and girl friends to enter this potato contest. Remember $10 in gold for the three largest potatoes raised by any boy or girl attending a public or separate school. Send in your name if you wish to enter the the contest. In our boy's department we still give a watch, a ball and bat or a catcher's mask with every suit at $5 and over.

EXPLOSION AT BEAMSVILLE

Kenneth, who is sixteen years old is very severely injured, although hopes are held out for his recovery. He with his father, was removed to the Hamilton City Hospital. His left collar bone is broken, his right hand fractured and he was badly cut around the body and face. His teeth were either knocked out or loosened, one eye was badly burned and fears are entertained that he may lose his sight. His lower limbs were also injured and his knee cap was torn off, and there is a bad gash just above the knee of his left leg.

Mr. Edward Keith, a man of about fifty years of age, well and popularly known throughout the entire district, as he was a motorman and conductor on the H. G. & B. electric Railway, for many years, is also badly injured, but the probabilities are that his injuries will not prove fatal.

His eyes seem to be affected worse and it is feared that he may lose the use of them. His left arm is broken and he sustained many cuts and bruises about the face and body.

The funeral of Delbert Keith, who was the victim of the explosion at Beamsville on the 24th of May, took place from the home of his parents on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The floral tributes were many and beautiful and the attendance was large. Rev. Wass officiated and interment followed in Mount Osborne cemetery. The pall bearers were Blake Davidson, Ross Hobden, Clarence Konkle, Claude Lister, Roderick Stewart and Douglas Stewart. There lives to survive him his mother and sister at home and his father and Kenneth, still in a very precarious condition.

While it is best at all times to have good, sharp grit constantly before the fowls, it is especially important that grit be supplied when feeding whole oats so that the hulls of oats, which are very tough and unyielding, will be properly ground With plenty of sharp grit there is no danger attending oat feeding, although the safest rule is to first soak the oats for an hour in water so that they become more softened.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS D

but when the two former County of Wentworth North and South were thrown together into one vast county, he wished to retire, but was prevailed upon to accept the nomination.

No one except those who are intimately acquainted with Mr. Smith at that time could understand the enormous task that he faced when he accepted the position of candidate for the Conservatives, in the County of Wentworth.

At that time the County had nominally eight hundred of a majority for the Reform party.

Mr. Smith's opponent was a popular, wealthy, hard working candidate, and to defeat such a candidate backed up by such an enormous majority, was a task that would care to undertake.

Mr. Smith faced this problem as he has faced every other one of his life, and his watchword was "organization" and that organization eventually won out.

The County of Wentworth at the time had forty-nine polling sub-divisions. Mr. Smith devised the plan of holding a local meeting and personally attending it in every one of the forty-nine polling sub-divisions.

He was assisted in this work by Mr. Jas. A. Livingston of Grimsby and for a whole year these two men spent the major portion of their time in organising the party in the County of Wentworth.

The organizing, especially in North Wentworth, was a most difficult one, on account of the fact that riding had been coupled with North Brant, where there was a normal majority for the Reform party of over one thousand at each election and consequently, the Conservatives had lost heart and had almost ceased to work and many of them had grown too careless to vote.

Besides this, there were scores of voters on the lists who had long ago left the County and were living in Brantford, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Galt and Toronto, and to go over these lists, serve each man with a notice, get evidence to have his name removed at a Court of Revision, or have new names put on which had been left off, was a most gigantic work, but it was accomplished and at the next election, Mr. E. D. Smith won the County all but fifteen hundred votes.

By a mistake of the returning officers in one division, Mr. Smith was declared elected by a few votes but he refused to take the seat and the County remained unrepresented for nearly two years, when it was again contested by the same two candidates, and Mr. Smith won.

Thus it will be seen that although the years he spent in Parliament were few, the work he had to do, the time and money which he spent was a very heavy strain on a man who was already loaded up to his capacity with business affairs.

Before the next election, Mr. E. D. Smith felt that his health would not stand the continued strain being put upon it, and he retired and has been practically out of politics since.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION EXTENDING ITS ACTIVITIES

It is interesting to note that the Young Men's Christian Association is advancing another step in their great work of assisting young men. They are constantly reaching out far beyond the bounds of their immediate membership, and are now doing a work which encircles the world in its effort to give the helping hand to any young men needing assistance.

A new department of the work recently organized in the Toronto Central Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association is one which should be known to ever one. It is a co-operative effort beween the Christian churches and the Young Men's Christian Association in which they unitedly undertake to look after all young men coming to Toronto as strangers, puting them in touch with employment, good rooming and boarding ouses, proper companions and with prominent young men of the churc, etc.

"Key-men" are being appointed in every church of Toronto, men who assume the responsibility of looking up young men whose names may be sent to them by the Secretary of the work. "Key-men" are also being appointed in outlying municipalities whose duty it is to notify the Secretary of the Inter-Community work of any young man leaving his home town and for whom he is to work, etc. Information is also being sent in from many other sources in Canada. United States and the British Isles as to young men coming to Toronto, and hundreds are already being looked after.

Parents and friends of young men going to Toronto will be glad to know of this important move on the part of the Y. M. C. A. and the churches, and will, no doubt, take the opportunity of notifying the Secretary of the Inter-Community work, Mr. E. F. Trimble at the Central Y. M. C. A., Toronto, of any friends going to Toronto to live.

We understand that without any properly organized effort, the Central Branch of the Toronto Young Men's Christian Association has assisted in different ways more than 5,000 men during the year ending May 1 last, fully 1,000 of these being assisted in securing employment. That being the case, the possibilities for good in this new department, with the churches assisting in every way, are beyond calculation.

We are pleased to give this information to the public through the columns of our paper, knowing that by doing so we are assisting in one of the greatest movements the Young Men's Christian Association has ever undertaken.

A NEW POTATO DISEASE

Potatoes rank as one of the most important prolucts in the United States. Consequently, much alarm is felt over the probable introduction of the potato wart. This is a new disease which was discovered on the potatoes in Germany a few years ago. Since that time it has spread with great rapidity, and threatens to become one of the worst enemies of potato culture. It has already crossed the Atlantic and become established in New Foundland. Therefore, it is imperative that steps should be taken to guard against its getting established on our farms. Since the wart disease attacks chiefly the tubers, it is difficult to ascertain the presence of the disease until harvest time, when it will be found that the most advanced stages are a black pulpy mass, which breaks up readily liberating millions of spore sacs which live in the soil for years. The eyes of tubers affected in a mild way first appear grayish, then brown and finally black, while in a healthy tuber, they are whitish or purplish in color. Many times it is impossible to ascertain the presence of the disease in this stage, and if planted would prove to be the source of new infection. The chief means of distribution of the wart disease is through the use of apparently healthy seed coming from infected fields.

The Harper-Evans agricultural college in a recent bulletin states a case of one consignment of such seed causing the spread of the disease over a district with a five mile radius. Too much emphasis cannot be laid on the danger of planting seed taken from infected fields. The damage caused by this disease is not only for one season, but for many years. It is a fact that the fungus lies in the soil for at least eight years, and possibly longer.

The disease is sometimes spread to adjoining fields through the use of infected manure. Therefore, diseased tubers should never be fed to stock unless cooked, as the spore sacs pass through the animal unharmed.

Animals which are allowed to roam over infected fields are another means by which the disease is carried from one field to another. It may also be carried on men's boots and tools which have not been thoroughly cleaned on coming from infected fields. There have been extensive experiments conducted in England with hopes of obtaining some means of controlling the disease, but there has been nothing found yet which is effective. Unlike many other diseases, the wart disease when once in the soil grows worse each year on land planted to potatoes. Since the fungus has been known to live in the soil eight years, therefore, potatoes should not be planted in the soil during that period.

Every farmer buying seed potatoes should be on his guard and see to it that this disease does not get started on his farm. Each year there are large quantities of potatoes imported into the United States which sell for less money than potatoes grown here. Many of them are sold for seed, and it seems that sooner or later the wart disease will get a foothold. In 1911, over 8,300,000 bushels of potatoes were received into the United States, the most of which came from countries infected with wart, and hundreds of bushels of these same potatoes were sold for seed to farmers who in turn are shipping their products to men who will use them for seed in other parts of the country.

The New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick, through Dr. M. I. Cook, the State Plant Pathologist, makes this statement concerning the disease: "In severe cases it causes coral-like, scaly nodules, resembling root galls, on the tubers. These growths are irregular in shape, not spongy and do not break off readily. Slightly affected tubers may escape notice but a careful examination will show that the eyes protrude slightly, due to one or more nodules varying in size from that of a pin head to that of a pea. The organism will lie in the soil for several years and cannot be controlled by seed treatment. Do not use European potatoes for seed."

Protection

(1) Examine seed to see that the tubers are free from scab, cankers and other indications of diseases or rots.

(2) Examine the potatoes as cut for black streaks, spots or other discolorations and throw out all that show these signs of disease.

(3) Treat all seed potatoes with formalin (one pint of formalin in 30 gallons of water) for two hours. The crates, bags and other containers should also be treated with formalin. This treatment is of little value if the soil should be infested.

(4) Rotate crops, but do not use tomatoes or egg plant in this rotation.

It would also be well for the growers to experiment with the growing of their own seed in the future. It has not been demonstrated that it is absolutely necessary or desirable to use northern-grown seed. It is a short step from New Foundland to Maine, where most of our seed comes from.

POULTRY NOTES

It is claimed that the most delicious, juicy broiler that an epicure can fancy is a turkey poult of about six pounds weight, or when about two-thirds grown, and of medium size. Many a young male, two-thirds grown would be too large to broil; if rather large, however, the breast may be cashed, and thus more easily cooked, through, but it must not be dried.

The following facts on marketing turkey feathers are well worth remembering. The quills from the third joint or tip end of the wing are called pointers, and should be kept separate. In packing, keep tail and wing feathers separate. Tie each kind in bundles by itself and press the bundles in the boxes separately. All feathers must be clean, sound and dry-picked. The wing quills should have full plumage on both sides of the quill, which come from the first and second joints of the wing next the body, are more valuable than, and should be separate from, the pointers. The tail feathers should be kept by themselves and are most valuable. The short tail and wing quills, if saved, should be kept separate from the long ones, as they depreciate their value if mixed with them. The directions for shipping are to mark the correct weight and tare on the boxes, also the name of the shipper and ship as "turkey quills."

Fowls are obliged to throw off much of the waste of the body through the lungs. They do not sweat in the sense that do other animals, but instead breathe several times faster than sweating animals when heated. To keep in good condition of health a hen requires nearly seven times the amount of fresh air in proportion to its size as does a horse.

A little granulated charcoal mixed in the soft food will generally check bowel trouble in chicks.

Too much use of cayenne pepper has caused considerable trouble among poultry keepers and so has overfeeding. The former brings on liver trouble and the latter leads first to indigestion, then fever and gangrene of the intestines; or inflammation of the mucous membrane, which is catarrh or roup, or anthra, which is black comb; and other fatal disorganizations of the muscular tissues of the liver.

The writer almost daily receives letters asking for cures for ailments in fowls. The bulk of these, at certain times of the year (principally winter) call for cholera cures. When the method of feeding is inquired into, it is found that corn is the principal if not the exclusive grain given, and the only grit available is some gravel, mostly round pebbles. This heavy feeding of corn, with a lack of sharp grit, is the cause of nearly all reported troubles among western poultry—and two-thirds of the complaints come from the Western states.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World —Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 50 years.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the abdomen and a weakness there and often after meals a soreness in my stomach. Lydia E. Pinkham's VegetableCompound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better and I can work with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. William S. Bourque, Fox Creek, N. B.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

HAVE YOU A SKIN RASH?

Zam-Buk Will End It.

For skin rashes, eruptions, eczema, etc., either in adults or children, there is nothing known to science which equals Zam-Buk in the quickness and certainty of its curative power. Mr. Raymond Webber, of Allanburg, Ont., writes: "I have tried Zam-Buk for many ailments and every time have found it successful. Some years ago I had a bad rash all over my body. I tried home-made salves, herb salves, and various home-made preparations, and these proved of no use, but when I tried Zam-Buk I was cured in a quarter of the time that I had been experimenting in vain with other preparations.

"On another occasion, I had one of my fingers crushed, and in that case also Zam-Buk was the only remedy I used. It healed the wound splendidly.

"My boy had boils, and once again Zam-Buk brought about a complete cure. We have also used it as a household balm, for the injuries and skin diseases that are common to every person, and can say that in our experience there is nothing to equal Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk owes its unique healing power to certain herbal extracts it contains. Unlike most ointments it contains no poisonous coloring matter, no animal fat, but is purely herbal. For eczema, piles, blood poison, abscesses, ulcers, cuts, burns and all skin injuries and diseases it is without equal and should be in every home. 50c box all druggists and stores. A WORD OF PRAISE FOR SPRING TOOTH CULTIVATORS

Grimsby, May 26, 1913.

Mr. Pyett,

Dear Sir:—I must say the two spring toothed cultivators I had from you give great satisfaction.

The two horse one is O. K. I will give you a few of its good properties: In the first place it is a light draft for the amount of ground that it covers and the quality of the work it does for orchard work where the trees are low headed, it can't be beat; and you can work either one, two or three sections without the least side draft. It is the greatest implement in this part of the country. The one-horse spring tooth is also good in small fruit; you can throw the soil either too or from the vines, which is a feature I never saw in any other spring tooth before.

Yours truly,
Thos. Sowerby.

HUCKLEBERRIES UNDER CULTIVATION

There may come a time when we learn how to grow huckleberries in our own gardens. It has not arrived yet. We have this information, however, that the huckleberry or blueberry plant is very particular as to soil conditions. The soil must be somewhat acid. I have made one trial and have one highbush huckleberry on my upland grounds now more than twenty years old. It has borne a few berries for many years, but the birds always get them

There were so few, the loss was not great. If an inquiring reader is bound to try his luck with the high bush huckleberry, he should take up some good plants from their native habitat, set them in some spot where the soil is a little sour and give a good mulch of woods earth or perhaps sawdust. This will be preferable to cultivation.

TWO KINDS OF ROT

Many potato growers do not understand that there are two different kinds of rot, and that while the old fashioned soft rot is certainly preventable by spraying, the dry rot is just as certainly not preventables by spraying. As a consequence, some have condemned the spraying of potatoes as a failure. I believe that the spraying of late potatoes with bordeaux is a profitable operation and that it will prevent early blight and rot blight anl discourage flea beetles, but it should be borne in mind that there are other blights and rots of the potato which cannot be prevented by spraying.

CLIPPING TO PREVENT SORE SHOULDERS

No doubt many horses will suffer from sore shoulders ere the spring and early summer work is over. Any hints as to methods of prevention and cure are valuable to all those who work horses. A writer in "The Farmer's Advocate and Home Journal," Winnipeg, Man., recommends clipping all the hair from the shoulders. This is his experience:

"Some years ago I had trouble every spring with horses getting sore shoulders, especially colts and horses that had not been worked all winter. No matter how much I cleaned them it seemed impossible to get all the dust out of the hair, and as soon as the horse started to sweat the old hair would loosen up and become matted with dust and sweat, and a scalded shoulder was the result.

"After some experience of that kind, I tried washing the horses' shoulders with salt and water every night for a few days before work started, and while this helped some, it did not prove a complete remedy, as the old hair would become loose and gather in little wads under the collar. At last I decided that if the shoulders were clipped it would end the trouble, so I got a pair of hand clippers and clipped the shoulders a couple of weeks before work started.

"That ended the trouble, and for the last six years I have never had a horse with a sore shoulder except one I bought three years ago that had a bad sore on the point of each shoulder when I got him. I fitted him with a collar and felt sweat pad and cut holes in the pad to fit over the sores and in a few weeks had them healed without leaving a scar. I rubbed in a little vaseline on the sores every night and wiped them off with a soft rag in the morning. The horse has never had a sore since, although there is a calloused spot under the skin on each shoulder that will swell up as big as an egg if he is worked for half a day with a bare collar.

"I find it a good plan, when buying new collars, to get a good snug fit with the collar buckled out wide and when the horse is put to work and begins to shrink the collar can be gradually tightened up. It does not seem to make much difference whether bare leather, cloth-faced or collar and sweat-pads are used, as long as they fit well.

"A collar to fit properly should come close to the sides of the neck with just room to shove your fingers in between the neck and collar at the bottom. For a horse that has a very thick neck and gets sore at the top of the shoulders, I take a collar and after oiling it well to make the leather pliable I fit on a block of wood that will spread it to the right shape, buckle up tight and leave for a couple of days when it will keep that shape."

The Easy Laxative

In justice to yourself you should try Rexall Orderlies,—your money back if you don't like them. They are a candy confection that really do give each relief from constipation.

Good health is largely dependent upon the bowels. When they become sluggish the waste material that is thrown off by the system accumulates. This condition generates poisons which circulate throughout the body, tending to create coated tongue, bad breath, headache, dull brain action, nervousness, biliousness and other annoyances.

Avoid harsh cathartics and physics. They give but temporary relief. They often aggravate the real trouble. They are particularly bad for children, delicate or aged persons.

Rexall Orderlies

Come in tablet form, taste just like candy, and are noted for their easy, soothing action upon the bowels. They don't purge, gripe, cause nausea, looseness, nor the inconveniences attendant upon the use of purgatives. Their action is so pleasant that the taking of Rexall Orderlies almost becomes a desire instead of a duty.

Children like Rexall Orderlies. They are ideal for aged or delicate persons as well as for the most robust. They act toward relieving constipation, and also to overcome its cause and to make unnecessary the frequent use of laxatives. They serve to tone and strengthen the nerves and muscles of the bowels and associate organs or glands.

Make Us Prove It

We guarantee to refund every penny paid us for Rexall Orderlies if they do not give entire satisfaction. We ask no promises and we in no way obligate you. Your mere word is sufficient for us to promptly and cheerfully refund the money

Doesn't that prove that Rexall Orderlies must be right? You must know we would not dare make such a promise unless we were positively certain that Rexall Orderlies will do all we claim for them. There is no money risk attached to a trial of Rexall Orderlies, and in justice to yourself, you should not hesitate to test them.

Rexall Orderlies come in convenient vest-pocket size tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10c; 36 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c.

Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists but only at the Rexall Stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies in this community only at our store:

HINTS AND HELPS FOR LADIES

SIX PIES THAT ARE GOOD

The ingredients for making the following pies will be found in most every pantry, and the newness of the dessert will give added zest to even a monotonous menu.

Buttermilk Pie—For two pies, separate the whites from the yolks of three eggs. Beat the yolks thoroughly with one-half cupful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Now add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and two cupfuls of fresh buttermilk. Flavor with extract of lemon and pour into pans lined with pastry. The whites are well beaten and sweetened and spread over the pies for baking. Place in the oven until they become a delicate brown.

Vinegar Pie—One cupful of sugar, one cupful of boiling water, five teaspoonfuls of vinegar and two of lemon extract, two level tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and two eggs. Mix sugar, cornstarch, vinegar and flavoring, and slowly add the hot water, stirring constantly on the stove until it thickens. When the mixture is cold stir in the yolks of the two eggs, and pour into pan lined with pastry. Make a meringue of the beaten and well-sweetened whites. Spread over the top after baking, and brown.

Green Tomato Pie—Peel and slice the tomatoes, pour boiling water over them and let stand for a few minutes. Line a pan with rich pastry and fill with the tomatoes, one cupful of sugar, a little lemon juice or vinegar, one teaspoonful of flour one-half cupful of water and a sprinkling of cinnamon. Cover with crust and bake.

Chocolate Pie—Line a deep pan with rich pie crust and bake in a quick oven. Grate one-half cupful of chocolate, place in a saucepan with one cupful of hot water, butter the size of an egg, one tablespoonful of vanilla, one cupful of sugar, beaten yolks of two eggs and two tablespoonful of corn-starch (dissolved in as much water). Mix well and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Pour into the pie-shell. Make a meringue of the two egg-whites beaten stiff with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Spread over the pie and slightly brown in the oven.

Caramel Pie—Make a rich crust and bake it. Then make a custard of one and one-half cupfuls of brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one egg, one lump of butter the size of a walnut, and one pint of boiling water. Mix and cook as for lemon pie. Remove from stove and stir in one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into the pastry-shell. This quantity is sufficient for one pie.

STRETCHING WIRE FENCES

It is always best when practicable to set fence-posts early in the spring, a month before the wire is to be strung, that the posts may become settled and more stable. To the novice it seems a simpler matter to fasten the stretcher-chain to a tree or post beyond the corner post so that it will not interfere with the work of stapling the wire to the corner post.

This is a great mistake; for, unless the stretcher is fastened to the corner post or end support of the fence in making the final stretch, it will slacken when the stretcher is removed, for the reason that the corner post has not been pulled solid against the brace with the stretcher. A stretcher with a lever at top and also at bottom is to be preferred to a single-lever stretcher, since with this the wire can be brought to the proper tension on uneven ground.

Staple the wire at every post, but not every strand. Wire stretched in hot weather will remain tighter than if stretched in winter. This is due to contraction and expansion of the metal.

Concrete is the best building material

A BROAD statement—Yet literally true. The aim of man from the beginning has been to make his building materials as nearly like natural stone as possible. The great labor required to quarry stone led him to seek various manufactured substitutes. The only reason he ever used wood was that it was easiest to get and most convenient to use. Wood is no longer easy to get. Like most building material, its cost is increasing at an alarming rate.

The cost of concrete is decreasing. So, from the standpoint of either service or economy, Concrete is the best building material.

Canada's farmers are using more concrete, in proportion to their numbers, than the farmers of any other country. Why?

Because they are being supplied with a cement of the highest possible quality, which insures the success of their concrete work.

Canada Cement—

The secret of concrete's popularity in Canada lies in the fact that while we have been advertising the use of concrete, we have also been producing, by scientific methods, a cement so uniformly high in quality that the concrete made with it gives the complete satisfaction our advertisements promised.

Concrete would not have been in such universal use today, had an inferior grade of cement been supplied. Insist upon getting Canada Cement. It is your best assurance of thoroughly satisfactory results from your concrete work. There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

Letters to the Editor

RELIGION AND POLITICS

What is religion and what was it instituted for? This may seem a peculiar question to ask, but judging from condition of affairs, the question may well be considered.

Religion is a system of love, faith, worship and obedience to the Creator, it is to be devotional, conscientious and strict in all dealings, doing unto others as you would have them do unto you (which, however, each waits for the other to do first) paying hundred cents on the dollar, esteeming every other person at least as good as yourself.

A house of worship, whether we call it by the name of church, cathedral, hall, mosque or temple, is for the assembling of persons for the worship and adoration of Almighty God.

A person should improve by attendance at a church, its institution being for the gathering of men and women to make them better citizens. Doubtless it is possible for one to be good without frequenting a church but the tendency is that they are likely to be somewhat hardened and indifferent.

A church is for the spiritual enlightenment, instruction and assistance, as a school is for the training of the child and should be of immense benefit and help to men in their struggle for better living, and to advance the cause of progress.

The question is raised that many hypocrits are to be found in the church; they appear good on the Sabbath and cut a different figure in the week, using religion as a covering or cloak for their actions and as a means to an end and many double lives are enacted under the pretence of religion, this may be, and also proves to us the depravity of the person who will sink so low as to take advantage of the spiritual for the gain of the commercial.

Religion with some is a farce, humbug, contemptible to the name of christianity.

One would hardly believe they were the same persons on Sunday, some with the Bible under their arms, walking in dignified style, with a sanctimonious cast upon their countenance, their religion extending according to their prosperity, like whitewash that is easily washed off, as paint and powder upon an apologetic woman's face, to be renewed at intervals.

A man should be, and will be, the better for his associations among genuine christian people, the influence is elevating, inspiring, cheering and to make life a little better and easier, christianity will produce all this and if practised will bring to pass what the world has been struggling and striving for from the beginning. Man went wrong at the commencement and he finds it easier, apparently, to continue to tread that path. What we require is christianity. Then we will get not so much equal rights as fair rights, justice and mercy.

We want men and women who will stand for honesty, integrity and virtue, to turn the world upside down as it has been living wrong side long enough.

What is politics? It is the management of affairs, art and method of government, an insurance of good conduct to promote the well being and welfare of the state, and the administration and control of production, consumption, wealth and the governing of laws.

Politics enter into the phase of life, and concerns everything it is a part of our existence, being lived and ruled by it. As elections are run by and more often than not to the benefit of the politicians, so to a large extent the churches are dominated and monopolized by politicians, those persons whose politics is their business and advertisement, most of the side shows being run by a certain element, to become fixtures, there being little opportunity for others, however, well their purpose and intentions may be.

Religion as it is, not as it should be, is a gigantic trust, monopoly, and organization to be exploited for the commerce of business and as a means to an end.

How much capital is given to churches, missions and other institutions, which if rightly divided, good part would be distributed to the wage earners who are often sweated to increase the treasury, and to make larger dividends for shareholders, after all the average man is the real supporter and that unostentatiously.

Religion in politics is a good thing, but politics in religion is otherwise. Some of the most honest and liberal men I have met, have been those who have little use for religion, which proves to us that after all it is the man, his actions and an example well worth copying in relation to principle.

The christian faith is not in a book or creed, but in a person whose life does not consist of the past, but covers past, present and future, yet that life which was from all eternity, submits to all tests of verification which other religions do not give or expect.

It is a power in man for the life that now is, of hope, pardon, grace and glory for the future.

The Christian view of man's nature, development, and destiny, is not marked by a hopeless baseless pessimism, but foresees the time when the ideal and actual shall be harmonized into one great reality.

In many instances the church has two or more parties constantly striving and warring against each other, each wants its own way to run things, to suit themselves. The elders or stewards are elected to represent the interests of the congregation, but to all appearance and in general the congregation has very little action.

The stewards or elders should hold office for honor, to uphold the rules and integrity of the church to advance its interests and welfare, to welcome strangers and to keep them there if possible, and if there were less, or what ought to be no squabbling, and grumbling or against the other, e should have a few additional men added to the church roll instead of being chiefly supported by ladies and children.

Then we come to the minister who is often expected to be like a piece of india rubber, bend which-ever way pulled, to conform to opinions of every person and if he does not satisfy a certain element, probably the one not in power, there is a fuss and kick made, and pronounced of less worth than his predecessor, consequently things are made unconfortable for him—Rank hypocrisy.

Can we reasonably expect a business man to satisfy all his customers, an editor to please all his readers, a politician to conform to opinions of all his constituents. The cause is that some make trouble a type of Jingoism.

If the church is to be a success and to forge ahead, then stand by the church for the good of the cause, for its institution and if a measure does not suit you nor in any wise affects you, do not oppose it, kick and fret, but study the majority. The man is not yet born who is able to satisfy every person.

A gardener in the service of a company was asked why he retained his position, whereas his predecessors did not succeed. He replied, "The first tried to please the manager and fell out with the others, the second tried to please the secretary and he failed, the third likewise with the treasurer, but I please myself and therefore, remain here." A wise plan to adopt when there is more than one boss around, whether in business, religion or politics, by studying yourself you are more likely to suit others and things will run smoothly.

Love of country is one of the loftiest virtues which God has planted in the human heart, and to rebel against it is one of the most damning sins, but how many crimes and how much misery are created by insensate appeals to patriotism. Because my neighbor lives across the line or in a foreign country, must I look upon him as an enemy when war is declared (to benefit a few in influential circles) for some reason of which I do not know of or agree with.

God made all equal, to have an equal opportunity on the earth, although many do not get it through monopolies, combines, trusts, etc. So therefore, with the church and in every phase of life, look upon every person as part of one great human family, one day to be united into one complete whole, to help along a brother or sister who may be down and out, and to hail forth the glorious millenium.

Geo. Haynes, Grimsby.

THE WORLD'S WORK DEPENDS ON THE WORLD'S DIGESTION

From the captain of industry to the hod carrier—from milady in the auto to the woman with the scrubbing brush—the accomplishments of every one of us depend absolutely on the accomplishments of our stomachs. Backed by a good digestion, a man can give the best that is in him. When his stomach fails, he becomes a weakling.

To this loss of power no one need submit. Right habits of eating, drinking, sleeping and exercise, aided by Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, will restore and maintain the full efficiency of the human mind and body.

Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets contain the active principles needed for the digestion of every kind of food. They go to the assistance of the weakened stomach, and enable the sufferer, right from the start, to assimilate and get the benefit of the food eaten. With this assistance, the digestive organs regain their tone, and soon the use of the tablets is no longer necessary.

If your stomach is not working properly, try Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets. 50c. at your druggist's. National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal. 145

HOW THE U. E. LOYALISTS CAME TO CANADA 130 YEARS AGO

The St. John River, with its wide sloping banks, wooded until sight was lost in the dim recesses of the forest, presented but a poor welcome to the three thousand weary loyalists, who, one hundred and thirty years ago, sailed up the broad stream that Cartier had called "a goodly river, but rather shallow" to carve a new home from the forest in a country over which the British flag still flew. But they were happy on that May morning, for when their little sloops had sailed from Boston harbor they had left the land of persecution behind them. They were again beneath the Union Jack, and little recked they for the years of hardships before them.

During the bloody years of the Revolution, the high-souled spirits who remained true to England had borne patiently with the contumely of the secessionists. They had suffered in silence when their barns and houses had been burned, because of their avowed adherence to the Mother country. But when peace was declared, and the British troops were withdrawn, the estates of the loyalists were confiscated. Their lives were in danger. Their families were open to every insult. The United States was indeed a free country for those who had fought for the revolutionary cause, but those whose allegiance had bound them to the land of their birth found little freedom in the new democracy—either of thought or speech.

Many of them set sail for England. Others packed their few little house hold effects in an ox-cart, and set out overland for Canada. But the largest party of enforced exiles was the party of 3,000 who set sail from Boston, landing in St. John, New Brunswick, on May 18, 1783. This was the first huge body of loyalists to settle in Canada and their descendants today form the backbone and sinew of the Maratime Province.

On May 4, however, an earlier party of 471 landed at Shelburne, Nova Scotia, and built up that little Acadian town.

Settling Ontario

It was not until late in the fall of 1783 that the first party of loyalists settled in Ontario. Drawn from New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, they had come north in ox-carts and flat-bottomed batteaux, by way of the old Lake Champlain route. Then a party of eighty of them crossed Lake Ontario and landed on the wooded shore of the Bay of Quinte. A little town sprang up, as if by magic, among the charred stumps. Strongly religious, the citizens built a church the following year, and Adolphustown took its place in the social life of the Province of Upper Canada.

The Niagara Peninsula in 1784 saw an influx of loyalists that materially helped in the development of that portion of the Province. The British authorities received them gladly, and gave them liberal grants of land, with rations and other assistance, until they were able to produce their own crops. Hardship and privation was an ever-present part of their daily life.

The women and children found it far different to the life they had led in England and in the older settled parts of the States. But they fought on—not now against their brother colonists, as in the great war that had led to their enforced exile—but against the monarchs of the forest that covered their so-called farms. In time the wheat sprouted and on a flat stone, it was roughly ground into flour. Roads were cut through the country. Towns sprang into being from length to length of the Province and the country flourished.

True Pioneers.

These were the United Empire Loyalists, the men whose landing in Canada we commemorate, the men whose sterling qualities, whose innate loyalty is evinced in the spirit of the nation today. They were the true pioneers, who with broad-axe carved out the country's destiny as they carved out their forest homes. Strong, true, noble-minded, they moulded the spirit of the country and to their influence is largely due the wholesome conservatism that has made of Canada a nation among the nations, and the greatest of Great Britain's overseas domains.

BEAMSVILLE

Mr. Clyde Tufford and son of Toronto spent a few days with friends here this week.

Fred Fairbrother, Thos. Manson, Leslie Howse, Andy Manson, O. F. Henry and Sinclair Manson of Toronto, were week-end visitors in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward McCombs spent the holiday with friends in Newmarket.

The Beamsville band furnished the music at the athletic meet at Victoria Hall on Monday.

Jos. Ryckman spent the holiday in Buffalo.

Born—On Sunday May 26, to Mr. and Mrs. Fairbairn, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edwards and family of Hamilton, have moved back to town.

The funeral of the late Mrs. McLeod, who died in the hospital at Hamilton, on Friday last, took place from her late residence on Tuesday morning, on the early train, to her old town for interment.

A play well worthy of much praise, was given in the Town Hall on Friday evening last, in aid of the "band" by a number of young people from St. Anns. This play, entitled "The Merry Milk Maids" has been given in a number of places and has been highly praised by every one who heard them.

Fred King, who recently suffered a paralytic stroke, is improving as well as can be expected.

A [illegible] who had been praying over [illegible] barren fields of his parishioners finally came to a most unpromising case. "No use to pray here," he said; "this needs manure."

It is well to remember that, while stable manure makes a good partial fertilizer for either plum or apple orchards, it is not desirable for peach orchards, as it is too strong in nitrogen, which tends to encourwood growth rather than fruit. A commercial fertilizer is preferable, one containing two or three parts fine bone to one part of muriate of potash.

CAISTORVILLE

Owing to the bad weather on the 24th, there were not so many visitors in the village as usual, and nearly everybody spent the holiday at home. However, the usual crowd gathered at the village in the evening, to watch the display of fireworks, which the merchants vied with each other in giving.

Arthur Springstead of Hamilton, spent the holiday at Albert Shields'.

Rev. G. I. and Mrs. Stephenson attended the district meeting at Ridgeway on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ellis Hannigan and wife have moved back to the village.

Wesley and Mrs. Asher spent the week-end with the latter's parents at Port Dover.

Mr. Senn of York had charge of the service here on Sunday.

Miss Ida Edwards of Toronto, spent the holiday with friends here.

Rev. and Mrs. Smith and son spent the week-end at Hugh Brown's.

Mrs. Shuter has returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Toronto.

Audrey Roy and wife of Dunnville, visited at Geo. Verner's over the holiday.

About sixty friends of Oliver and Mrs. Lymburner gathered at their home on the 24th to celebrate his birthday and spent a very enjoyable time.

MOUNTAIN VIEW

The rain has made a great improvement in the crops.

Mr. A. Konkle is hauling stone for his new barn.

The stork has visited this section again and brought a boy to Mr. and Mrs. G. Konkle.

It is feared the frost has damaged the small fruit.

Mr. E. Hurst who has been laid up with measles, is around again.

The farmers are busy getting their corn ground ready.

Miss McLeod of Beamsville, visited Miss Maggie Merritt on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Webb of Grassies, called on Mr. W. Webb on Sunday last.

Mr. P. Merritt bought a horse last week.

GENEROUS IN MOURNING

Down in Georgia, a negro who had his life insured died and left the money to his widow. She immediately bought herself a very elaborate mourning outfit.

Showing her purchase to a friend, she was very particular in going into detail as to price and all incidental particulars. Her friend was very much impressed and remarked: "Them sho is fine clothes, but, befo' heaven, what is you goin' to do wid all dis black underwear?"

The bereaved one sighed:

"Chile, when I mourns, I mourns."

And when Tobey advertises a special sale of suits, they are the real thing. If you will just take the trouble to read the ad in another part of this paper about the Coppley Noyes & Randall ten days' shutdown and the special sale of suits at $16.50 and $20 and come and see them, you'll have a delightful experience and the pleasure one of these beautiful suits will give you is guaranteed.

In our boys' department we give a watch, a fob, a ball and bat or a catcher's mask, free with every suit at $5 and over.

BIG RETURNS FROM BEES

(By Morley Pettit, Provincial Apiarist)

The criticism has been offered that I am attempting to make more beekeepers in Ontario. If those who are at present keeping bees can be aroused to the possibilities of the business, it will not be necessary to make new ones. We already have the names of 8,000 beekeppers on our lists, and find that these take more interest in the work we are doing than others, because they know something of the financial returns and are anxious to increase their business. An effort has been made by some to represent beekeeping as a great mystery, and something with which almost insurmountable difficulties are connected. There is no doubt that it requires care and experience and adaptability to succeed with bees. A great many beekeepers get little or no returns from their hives. I believe the same can be said of keepers of poultry, and many other such things on the farm.

Let me cite one instance to show that it is not necessary to take years to gain a working knowledge of beekeeping. In the fall of 1910 one of the first-year students of this College took the lectures in Apiculture along with the rest of his class. He became especially interested in the subject and asked me for work for the following season. A place was secured for him with a beekeeper managing a large number of colonies. He came back to us in the fall of 1911 and took his second year, receiving no instructions in beekeeping whatever during the term, except the two-weeks' short course in January. In the spring of 1912 he was placed in charge of an apiary of thirty colonies. He came to me almost every week for advice, but had practically the whole responsibility of apiary. He increased this apairy to sixty good colonies and extracted 2,500 lbs. of honey—this ina locality where one would not expect a large amount of honey with the best of management.

The crop sold in the fall for $300, and the increase of thirty colonies would be worth $100, at a rough estimate, making the returns from this apiary $400. The time spent by the young man in working at this was no more than two days per week, and this only during the summer months. If anyone can show better returns than this from the other branches of farming, which are receiving so much more attention and expenditure of Government money, I would like to hear it.

Someone would say there are diseases, winter loss, and poor years. True, but we find that there has never been a winter of heavy losses when careful beekeepers have not wintered successfully, and in the districts of most disease, bees are being kept successfully at good profit. It is easy for the college man, or any other careful man or woman, to learn successful wintering and disease control. In spite of poor seasons, there has never been a summer when many sections of Ontario have not had good crops of honey, and in almost the poorest year some good colonies in the apiary will secure a crop. The point to be got here is the necessity of care in the selection and distribution of location for the apiary and in the selection and breeding of bees. The elements of success in beekeeping are no more intricate or mysterious than those required in any other branch of farming.

Summing up the results of co-operative experiments in apiculture for 1912, we find that we had 49 experimenters, with 1,506 colonies, spring count, and 2,090 colonies, fall count. This represents an investment of $20,000 at the very outside. Their income for 1912 is, first, their increase of 574 colonies, which, with out hives, would be worth at least $3 each in the fall, totalling $1,722; also 97,042 lbs. of honey, worth, at a low estimate $10,000. This gives each of our 49 experimenters the neat dividend of 58 per cent. on his capital invested. If anyone can show as good returns on capital invested from any other branch of farming, taking an average of results from fifty farmers scattered all over Ontario, I would be glad to hear his report.

The intensive farmer who created the sensation of the recent Experimntal Union Meeting, by telling how much he made on a two-and-a-half acres of land, that stated that his biggest returns were from the hives of bees which were located on his two and a half acres, but did not mention that they ranged over an area of several square miles in gathering this result. Prominence was given in the press to this as a result of intensive farming, when it was, really, a result of bee-keeping. The following returns received from bee keepers who have sent reports from all over Ontario during 1910, 1911 and 1912, make interesting reading:

In 1910—633 beekeepers, from 31,145 colonies, produced 1,643,900 lbs of honey—an average of 52 lbs per colony.

In 1911—749 beekeepers, from 32,009 hives, produced 1,489,000 lbs of honey—an average of 46 lbs per colony.

In 1912—569 beekeepers, from 29,564 hives, produced 1,011,200 lbs of honey—an average of 34 lbs per colony.

This reduction is due to poor seasons, but an average return of $3.40 from a $10 investment is not so bad.

What Beautiful Hair!

How often do we hear that exclamation about a certain woman's or man's hair.

A prominent scientist and hair specialist emphatically states and has proven that any man or woman can have luxuriant, lustrous hair, by using the famous prescription called PARISIAN Sage.

PARISIAN Sage is now made and sold in Canada. W. M. Stewart, the druggist is the agent in Grimsby, and the readers of The Independent can buy a bottle from him for only 50 cents a large bottle.

W. M. Stewart knows that PARISIAN Sage will beautify the hair, and for that reason he sells it under a guarantee to cure or money back. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont., Canadian Makers.

A Matter of Miles.

One cold, gray morning an inebriated lumberjack rolled into the railway station in a northern Michigan town. Shortly before train time he managed to lurch to the ticket window.

"Gimme a t-ticket tu Springfiel'," said he to the agent, who was not so sleepy as he looked.

"Springfield, Ohio, Illinois, or Massachusetts?" questioned the agent.

"Well, wh-which is the nearest?"

A Bonanza Good Fishing

An enthusiastic fisherman was telling some friends about a proposed fishing trip to a lake in Colorado he had in contemplation.

"Are there any trout out there?" asked one friend.

"Thousands of 'em."

"Will they bite easily?"

"Will they? Why, they're absolutely vicious. A man has to hide behind a tree to bait a hook."

Trouble Averted

When a crotchety old farmer of Massachusetts had trouble with his neighbor he sought a lawyer.

"I want you ter write him a letter an' tell him this here foolishness hez got ter stop," he declared firmly. "I know what I want ter say, but I ain't got the larnin' ter put it jest right."

"What do you want to say?" his lawyer asked.

"Wa-all, begin by tellin' him that he's the durnest, lyin'est, thievin'est low-downest skunk on airth."
